IDENTIFICATION OF CANADIAN ORIGIN CATTLE ENTERING THE 2020 NATIONAL WESTERN STOCK SHOW

Colorado welcomes Canadian cattlemen to attend the National Western Stock Show and recognizes the great addition they bring to this international livestock show.

The charge of the Colorado Department of Agriculture is to protect the livestock industry of Colorado. Import requirements are an important part of this responsibility. Permanent identification of Canadian cattle is vital to facilitate traceability.

At the Spring 2008 Western States Animal Health Association meeting a resolution to the USDA was passed by the attending state animal health officials to recommend that all Canadian cattle entering the United States have a hip brand. U.S.A. port veterinarians have stated the CAN ear tattoos on cattle entering the U.S.A. from Canada are not being applied correctly and will not be legible in a short time.

A Cattle required to have a CAN brand high on the right hip:

1. Cattle that originated in Canada at any time and coming to the Stock Show to be SOLD in a breed sale or private treaty sale. This includes cattle that entered the U.S.A. previously with a CAN ear tattoo.
 1. A CAN freeze brand or hot iron brand shall be placed high on the right hip.
 2. The characters shall be a minimum of 2"x2" and shall not exceed 3"x3".

B. Cattle NOT required to have a CAN hip brand.

1. Cattle that originated in Canada at any time and are coming to the Stock Show for exhibition ONLY.
2. These cattle must have a legible CAN ear tattoo.
3. They must return directly to Canada or to the state they originated in prior to coming to the Stock Show.
4. If an animal intended for exhibition only is sold, the Colorado Brand Commissioner shall be notified of this sale. The animal shall be CAN branded high on the right hip before leaving the Stock Show grounds.
